

Notification of ABHES Program-Specific Warnings as of 3/1/2022

Under ABHES Chapter III, Section C, Subsection 4 of the Accreditation Manual:

City College - Altamonte Springs, FL

The Allied Health, Medical Office Administration with a Concentration in Billing and Coding – Associate of Science program has been placed on program-specific warning status by ABHES. The institution has decided to teach out the program as the campus has been unable to maintain a 70% annual placement rate.

City College - Fort Lauderdale, FL

The Emergency Medical Services – Associate of Science program has been placed on program-specific warning status by ABHES. The institution must submit a teach-out plan as the campus has been unable to maintain a 70% annual credentialing rate.

City College - Gainesville, FL

The Allied Health, Medical Assisting – Associate of Science program's accreditation was withdrawn by ABHES as of 2/17/2022. The institution submitted a teach-out plan on 8/24/2021, in response to the program warning status due to the campus being unable to maintain a 70% annual retention rate. The Allied Health, Medical Assisting – Associate of Science program was previously on program specific warning status by ABHES, due to the inability to maintain a 70% annual retention rate since November 2018.

City College - Hollywood, FL

The Cardiovascular Sonography – Associate of Science program is currently in teach out. ABHES' grant of accreditation for this program expires 9/15/2022, allowing all students currently enrolled to complete the program. The Emergency Medical Services – Associate of Science program is currently in teach out. ABHES' grant of accreditation for this program expires 3/15/2022, allowing all students currently enrolled to complete the program.

City College - Miami, FL

The Emergency Medical Services – Associate of Science program's accreditation was withdrawn by ABHES as of 2/17/2022. The institution submitted a teach-out plan on 8/24/2021 in response to the program warning status due to the campus being unable to maintain a 70% annual retention rate. The Allied Health, Medical Assisting – Associate of Science program was previously on program specific warning status by ABHES, due to the inability to maintain a 70% annual retention rate since November 2018.

Students Enrolled in Programs Listed Above: All City College student services are available to all current students and all services will continue to be available until graduation. It is important to note that because enrollment has been ceased, students must take the courses offered as prescribed. If a student fails and/or withdraws from a course, there will be no ability to repeat or take the course again and this will conclude the student's enrollment with City College.

City College has a policy of retaining student records in a student information system where both financial and academic records are maintained electronically. Students (current and prior) and graduates may request records through the Registrar Department at the campus attended or the main campus located at: City College – Hollywood, 6565 Taft Street #200, Hollywood, Florida 33024.

